HYMN FESTIVALS

HISTORY

Shortly after the Hymn Society of America was founded in 1922, it began to stress the need for festivals of hymns. In 1934 it recommended holding such an event on the Sunday nearest to St. Cecilia's Day, which falls just before Thanksgiving. Over the years a series of Hymn Festival Committees has been active, and regular articles have appeared in The Hymn, including examples of services.

PURPOSE AND FUNCTION

Morgan Simmons, in two articles on "Hymn Festivals, U.S.A." in The Hymn (July 1961 and 1962), states, "Their prime objective (is) the adoration of Almighty God". The function "may be summarized in the words communication, stimulation, and commemoration. A hymn festival . . . is a means of communicating with God and provides opportunities for fellowship within a community of believers. Because hymns are the focal point in such a service, their novel position stimulates the worshipers in areas unexplored . . . The healthy curiosity aroused by a few facts concerning hymns, their authors and composers, may have lasting value on congregational singing." He adds that the Church Year is a series of commemorative events which renew our awareness of God's revelation in human history, and while anniversaries of hymn writers and publication of new hymnals may provide opportunities for celebration, "We need not wait for such times to sponsor hymn festivals. Commemoration has a double function."

Such festivals are based on the Society's recognition of the need

(a) to teach and present results of hymnological research and new hymn writing,
(b) to promote new hymnbooks and new hymns,
(c) to increase willingness to try unfamiliar hymns and tunes,
(d) to provide opportunities to master new material,
(e) to attempt to raise the quality and significance of hymn singing in church,
(f) to deepen the understanding and insight of the spiritual value of hymns.

In times past the Sunday afternoon hymn-sing around the piano in the home represented a type of festival. In mid-19th-century Wales, the Gymanfa Ganu (singing festivals) were instituted by Ieuan Gwyllt (Rev. John Roberts). Organized practices were held in churches and hymns were learned which then were sung when various church groups came together for a whole day of singing. (See "The Gymanfu Ganu in American", Frank C. Isaacs, The Hymn, April 1963.) The "Sacred Harp" all-day sings still held in the Southeastern U.S.A. are another manifestation of the festival movement, and the ubiquitous "Lessons and Carols" are still another each Christmas season.

In 1940 the Hymn Society celebrated the Tercentenary of the Bay Psalm Book of 1640. In 1942 it was the Sesquicentennial of Lowell Mason's death. In 1948, at the Bicentennial of the death of Isaac Watts, a special order was developed jointly with the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, and 85,000 copies were distributed. This was followed by a leaflet of ten metrical psalms for the 1950 Tercentenary of the Scottish Psalter of 1650. In 1951 the 400th anniversary of the Genevan Psalter of 1551 was celebrated, and in 1957 the 250th anniversary of the Birth of Charles Wesley was marked by the distribution of 105,000 copies of a suggested Wesley service and 35,000 pieces of literature. Many of these events were also accompanied by the publication of scholarly papers and articles by the Society. In recent years The Hymn has carried names and dates of authors and composers whose anniversaries might be the focus of special celebration.

Hymn festivals can be and have been presented by all kinds of groups. A local church can present its own — with or without choir(s), at special services, for the closing of choir season, or at an informal church supper. Some have been arranged by two or more local churches, others by local Councils of Churches, the American Guild of Organist Chapters, Choristers' Guilds, and the National Federation of Music Clubs. Some have been presented in the form of an organ recital, with hymn preludes based on the tunes sung.

Seminaries have held "mini-festivals" for daily chapel services; national church music fellowship groups (such as The Association of Disciples Musicians, Fellowship of United Methodist Musicians, and Presbyterian Association of Musicians) have incorporated festivals into their national convocations. In 1975, the Southern Baptists had a marathon "sing-through" of the entire new Baptist Hymnal in Nashville, Tennessee. The event lasted thirty hours; fifty choirs and more than twenty-one soloists participated. The Fellowship of United Methodist Musicians has co-sponsored with the Methodist Church Board of Education "A Great Day of Singing" for some 15 years, usually in October or November. Others have developed a "Hymn of the Month" program, with a festival ending the season and including all of the hymns learned.

Since 1969 lunch-hour hymn singing in London's Westminster Abbey, under the title of "Come and Sing", has been highly popular during the month of May. Various choirs lead the singing, and English organists, directors, and hymnologists direct the 30-40-minute sing. New hymnals have been presented and printed song sheets used. (See "Come and Sing" by Leonard Blake in The Hymn Society Bulletin, Vol. 8, No. 2, November 1973.) Some churches have used the morning worship hour as a time for presenting hymns. The number of possible groups and occasions is limited only by one's imagination.

TYPES OF SERVICES

There are several types of services which may be considered.

(1) Thematic. These are services of Divine Worship, specialized in design, emphasizing spiritual and scriptural concepts, with hymns as the major emphasis.

(2) Topical. These are based on a particular category, such as American hymn writers, hymns by Watts, folk melodies, etc., with connecting sequence material (commentary, scripture, prayers).

(3) Order of Worship. The church's regular order of worship is used, with hymns substituted for the various movements of the service, including a series of hymns (usually with commentary) for the sermon.

(4) Chronological-Historial. A particular time span is covered, as with hymns of the 17th century, hymns of the ages, contemporary hymns.

(5) Seasonal. Christmas, Thanksgiving, Advent, Lent, or any other special season offers an opportunity for a festival peculiarly appropriate for that time.

(6) Informal Rehearsals. This is hymn study with comments and explanations, and much of its success depends on the personality and leadership ability of a single person. Canon Charles Winfred Douglas, Dean Robert Guy McCutchan, Earl E. Harper, Hugh Ross, and H. Augustine Smith were experts in the past. Presently, William J. Reynolds is noted for his presentations of the new Baptist Hymnal, Carlton R. Young for the new Methodist Hymnal, Carol Giesbrecht for the Canadian Baptist Hymnal, and Paul Manz for the unique services which he leads from the organ.

(7) National-International. Services can be built around hymns from various national backgrounds and sources. The new Cantate Domino (Bärenreiter, 1976) is a particularly fine resource, but all hymnal indexes will reveal listings of sources from around the world.

Fine hymn festivals do not "just happen" — they are the result of careful planning. Most begin with the ideas and enthusiasm of a single individual, but rarely do they succeed without the thought, suggestions, planning, and hard work of a responsible committee. In every case, both ministers and musicians must work together. Here are some considerations:

(1) Avoid conflicts with church schedules and services, community events, and on-going programs — choose the date carefully.

(2) Plan the theme and choose hymns, scriptures, prayers, and commentary.

(3) Decide on the participants. It may be only one choir, one church; or it may be a group. Make certain all are enthusiastic about participating and are willing to work. Participants may be adult choirs, children and/or youth choirs, organists, instrumentalists, soloists, ministers, narrators, dancers, choric speech choirs, multi-media leaders.

(4) Assign responsibilities. Don't try to do it all yourself. Each choir should be responsible for practicing the hymns, learning descants and faux bourdons, and understanding the purpose of the festival.

(5) Include as many musicians and clergy as possible in the service.

(6) Decide on what variety of treatment is to be used on each hymn, but keep it simple. A festival should not develop into a grandiose spectacle, nor should it degenerate into an amorphous shapeless affair or a sterile itemized list of hymns.

(7) Plan rehearsals. Is there to be a joint rehearsal of choirs other than their own preparation? If so, when? An hour before the festival? The day before? Choir rehearsal night? Who will accompany, and who will direct the rehearsal?

(8) Arrange publicity. Use all public relations opportunities: radio, television, newspapers, church bulletins, Council of Churches mailing list, American Guild of Organists and Choristers Guild newsletters, flyers, posters, announcements to choirs and congregations.

(9) Print programs. The program should give clear instructions to the congregation — what they are expected to do, when, and how; and all participants should be listed. The author and composer of each hymn should be clearly identified; the first line, and tune name of the hymn should be given.

(10) Plan logistics. Where will the choirs be placed — in the choir loft, in the balcony, in the midst of the congregation?

Places for instrumentalists should be carefully chosen with visual and aural considerations. Chairs must be arranged for all participants — musicians and ministers.

(11) Instruct the ushers. They can play an important part in making things move smoothly — seating the congregation, distributing bulletins and hymn sheets, reserving special places for choirs, receiving the offering.

(12) Take care of interpretation. In any festival there will be interpretative material, spoken or written, concerning the hymns. If it is spoken, keep comments brief and interesting. Information and inspiration should be in balance. Such information will usually fall in one of three categories:
   (a) Background material (historical, biographical, theological).
   (b) Spiritual and Scriptural basis of the hymn.
   (c) Exhortation — encouraging the people to sing. In no case should one attempt to cover too much ground.

(13) Balance the familiar and the unfamiliar. One of the goals of a festival is learning new hymns, but there must be some hymns which everyone knows and enjoys.

(14) Choose tunes and texts. Both are important. Choose tunes carefully, and give information about them as well as the texts.

RESOURCES

Past issues of The Hymn for July 1952, October 1957, April 1958, July 1958, October 1960, July 1961, July 1962, and July 1975 include examples of festival planning and services. Also: "Sing with Spirit and Understanding" (The Story of the Hymn Society of America) by William W. Reid (p. 48), No. XVI in "The Papers of the Hymn Society"; and "The Hymn Festival Movement in America", Paper No. V (1934) include fine examples. Copies of past and current hymn festivals sponsored by the Methodist Church may be secured from the Executive Secretary of FUMM, P.O. Box 840, Nashville, TN 37202. Write your own denominational headquarters to see if they have prepared any hymn festival services, or can be encouraged to do so.

Your basic tools are your hymnal and its handbook, plus your own imagination and inventiveness. The number of possible themes is almost limitless, but perhaps this list of subjects culled from many sources may help to trigger your planning:

Lessons and Carols (not limited to Christmas — see "Songs and Bible Readings" by George Brandon in The Hymn, July 1975, p. 85)

Songs for the Seasons (Advent, Epiphany, Lent, Pentecost, etc.)

VARIED TREATMENT OF HYMNS

A successful festival needs to vary the treatment of hymns in order to avoid fatigue and boredom. Arrangements will need to be made for congregation and choir to alternate and combine singing. Hymns can be chosen in the following manner:

A. AS PARTS OF SERVICES/MOVEMENTS OF WORSHIP
   1. Choral Introit
   2. Call to Prayer
   3. Prayer
   4. Response to Prayer
   5. Litanies
   6. Sermon Outline
   7. Offertory Response
   8. Processionals
   9. Meditation
   10. Antiphonal Reading or Singing (Choir-Congregation)
   11. Responsive Reading or Singing (Minister or Soloist-Congregation)
   12. Doxologies and Glorias
   13. Confessional Prayer
   14. Benediction

B. IN RELATION TO SCRIPTURE
   1. Before Scripture
   2. As Scripture (Paraphrase)
   3. Response to Scripture

C. IN RELATION TO OTHER ARTS — VISUAL, DANCE, DRAMA
   1. Multimedia use of slides during singing (nature scenes; great art)
   2. With interpretive dance
   3. With choric speech
   4. Illustrated by pastels, chalk, or montage
   5. Dramatized (because of history or content)

D. IN TERMS OF PROCEDURES FOR SINGING

1. With instruments
   a. Organ preludes before or after singing
   b. Brass accompaniment; string; double bass and organ; percussion; Orff instruments; handbells
2. Congregation/Choir
   a. In alternatim: for longer hymns, various groups alternate: congregation, choir, soloist, organ, women, men, two halves of congregation, instrumentalists
   b. Descants — sung by children's choir or adult sopranos; played on the organ or by a trumpet or other instrument
   c. Faux Bourdon, an arrangement with the melody in the tenor and other voices reharmonized
3. Treatment of Hymns
   a. Hymn concertos
   b. Hymns and free accompaniments (improvised, written, or taken from published collections)
   c. Anthems: choir can sing an arrangement, congregation joins in on last stanza
   d. Hymns in Canon — as a "round"
   e. Hymns Read: in a long hymn, sing stanzas 1 and 5, read the other three
   f. Divided Hymns — for a long hymn, use the first part at one time and the rest later. Especially effective if the text contains two divergent or contrasting ideas
   g. Single stanza — choose only those stanzas which are appropriate
   h. Two hymns alternated — The choir sings one hymn; the congregation sings another, alternating stanzas (e.g., "In Dulci Jubilo" and "Quem Pastores").

Obviously, to attempt all of these suggestions in any one service would be disastrous and ludicrous, but they are designed to stimulate the imagination in planning a festival.

You, in turn, can help the Hymn Society by sending in copies of Hymn Festivals which you have planned or attended which you feel would be of interest to others. In addition to complete information about the "who, what, when, and where," comments about unusual or special features should be included.

SOME EXAMPLES

Finally, a few examples of festival programs are included in the hopes that members will be stimulated to take leadership in the hymn festival movement in the years ahead.

Notes and sources:

Arabic numerals under the hymns indicate possible variations in singing the stanzas.

Roman numerals are used for sources of somewhat more elaborate arrangements and cannot necessarily be used in order. If one uses the Vaughan Williams for the procession, for example, the Coleman cannot be used also.

Abbreviations:

C-J = Norman Coke-Jephcott, The Saint Thomas Church Descant Book, Belwin-Mills Publishing Co.

Coleman = Henry Coleman, Varied Hymn Accompaniments, Oxford University Press

RSCM = Gerald H. Knight, compiler, Accompaniments for Unison Hymn-Singing, Royal School of Church Music, Croydon, CR9 5AD, England

Thiman = Eric Thiman, Varied Accompaniments to 34 well-known Hymn Tunes, Oxford University Press

Settings of the tunes under THREE AMERICAN HYMN TUNES are found in various hymnals; however, the tunes and texts specified are in Hymnbook for Christian Worship, Saint Louis: The Bethany Press, 1970.

Music for FAMILIAR WORDS WITH NEW MUSIC is published in Ecumenical Praise, Carol Stream, Illinois 60187: Agape, 1977.

I. BIRTH

Hymn: O Sing A Song of Bethlehem (Kingfold)
(Standing)

O sing a song of Bethlehem, Of shepherds watching there,
And of the news that came to them From angels in the air:
The light that shone on Bethlehem Fills all the world today;
Of Jesus' birth and peace on earth The angels sing alway

Reading: Matthew 1:18-25

Hymns: Of The Father's Love Begotten Service Book and Hymnal No. 17 (1st setting)

From Heav'n Above To Earth I Come No. 22, SBH

All five stanzas sung in parts, unaccompanied

NB "Amen" will be sung where printed.

II. BOYHOOD

Hymn: (Kingfold)

O sing a song of Nazareth, Of sunny days of joy;
O sing of fragrant flowers' breath, And of the sinless boy:
For now the flowers of Nazareth In ev'ry heart may grow;
Now spreads the fame of his dear name On all the winds that blow.

Reading: Luke 2:41-52

Hymns: Our Father, By Whose Name Worship Supplement 782
Arr. D. Busarow

1. Choir
2. Choir
3. All

Within The Father's House (St. Michael)

1. (all) Within the Father's house The Son hath found his home,
And to his temple suddenly The Lord of Life hath come.
2. (men) The doctors of the Law Gaze on the wondrous Child
And marvel at his gracious words Of wisdom undefiled.
3. (women) Yet not to them is giv'n The mighty truth to know,
To lift the earthly veil which hides Incarnate God below.
4. (all) The secret of the Lord Escapes each human eye,
And faithful pondering hearts await The full epiphany.

Verses 5, 6, and 7 spoken in prayer:

Lord, visit Thou our souls And teach us by Thy grace
Each dim revealing of Thyself With loving awe to trace,
Till from our darkened sight The cloud shall pass away
And on the cleansed soul shall burst The everlasting day,
Till we behold Thy face And know as we are known Thee, Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, Coequal Three in One.
AMEN.

III. LIFE AND MINISTRY

Hymn: (Kingfold)

O sing a song of Galilee, Of lake and woods and hill,
Of him who walked upon the sea And bade its waves be still:
For though, like waves on Galilee, Dark seas of trouble roll,
When faith has heard the Master's word, Falls peace upon the soul.

Reading: Matthew 8:5-13

Hymns: Songs of Thankfulness and Praise No. 55, SBH, (St. George's, Windsor)

Everyone sings all stanzas

Stanza 4: All

The Nicene Creed - Second Article (Congregation)

And in one Lord Jesus Christ, the only-begotten Son of God, Begotten of his Father before all worlds, God of God, Light of Light, Very God of Very God, Begotten, not made, Being of one substance with the Father, By whom all things were made: Who for us men, and for our salvation, came down from heaven, And was incarnate by the Holy Ghost of the Virgin Mary, And was made man; And was crucified also for us under Pontius Pilate. He suffered and was buried; And the third day he rose again according to the Scriptures, And ascended into heaven, And sitteth on the right hand of the Father. And he shall come again with glory to judge both the quick and the dead: Whose kingdom shall have no end.
